

From the Desk of

LAWRENCE S. LAPIDUS

(202) 822-3777

llapidus@karpfrosh.com

February, 2004

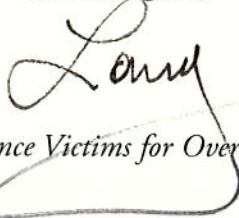

Dear Friend,

I am often asked, "What makes a good settlement"? The Answer is not an easy one. It depends upon the nature and extent of the injuries, the clarity of the liability issue involved, and in automobile accident cases, and the extent of property damage. Other important factors include how the physician describes the injuries and to what extent the physicians corroborates the client's report of pain, injury and impairments. Time lost from work or other important daily activities are also important considerations. People are often surprised to learn that insurance adjusters look for "treatment gaps" and that no amount of good explanations for not visiting the doctor regularly or as instructed will diminish the value of a potential settlement and if the case goes to court, will also diminish a jury verdict.

When you bring your negligence case here, we try to make what other lawyers feel is a good settlement into the best settlement possible. We do this by working closely with clients, giving every case constant and regular attention, and building a persuasive case by obtaining all pertinent records and then arranging them in a way that makes it easy for a busy insurance adjuster or other decision-maker (like a jury or an arbitrator) to give the best possible decision under all of the circumstances involved.

If you feel I can assist you, your family and friends obtain the best possible settlement, please call my office as soon as possible after any type of unusual injury. Working together, I am confident we can obtain the best possible settlement or verdict.

With best regards,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Larry", with a large, sweeping flourish underneath.

Representing Negligence Victims for Over Twenty-five Years